

Social Prescribing Study Knowledge Exchange Event

Are you interested in social prescribing as a means of supporting people's broader health and well-being?

A team from the University of Oxford will present findings from a study about how link workers are being introduced in primary care at 7 locations across England. This session will be an opportunity to discuss implications for policy and practice.

MONDAY 16TH OCTOBER

15.45 - 17.45

EXETER COMMUNITY CENTRE

17 SAINT DAVIDS HILL EXETER EX4 3RG

FREE ADMISSION BUT LIMITED TICKETS ON FIRST
COME FIRST SERVED BASIS. PLEASE REGISTER ON
EVENTBRITE - CLICK HERE

More information from debra.westlake@phc.ox.ac.uk

